

SIAMESE TWINS' FIGHT TO WED REJECTED IN NEW YORK

Fourth Victim

COURT ORDER TO GET LICENSE PROPOSED

"Immoral" Issue to Be Fought Out for a Showdown

New York, July 6 (AP)—Violet Hilton, the starboard half of the Hilton sisters, "Siamese" twins, is going to fight it out with New York officials who yesterday refused to issue a marriage license to her and Maurice Lambert, must be turned down both here and in New York.

Will apply for writ. Her attorney, Irving Levy, said he would apply in supreme court for a mandamus writ directing the New York City clerk to grant the license.

"I won't permit Violet—and of course Maurice—to go to Maryland to get the license. The city refusing to issue the license is an undesirable precedent in the marriage law."

"We're going to have a showdown on the matter. The only way to solve it is through the marriage law."

In deciding not to grant a license to Violet and Lambert, assistant corporation counsel Russell Tarbox wrote:

"Application denied on the ground that bride is a Siamese twin."

REJECTED IN JERSEY. Her attorney, Irving Levy, said he would apply in supreme court for a mandamus writ directing the New York City clerk to grant the license.

"The very idea is quite immoral and indecent."

In Newark, the applicants were turned down by city clerk Harry R. Reinhardt.

"Moral reasons."

Love Dream of 'Siamese Twin' Is Thwarted

MAURICE LAMBERT VIOLET HILTON DAISY HILTON
New York, New Jersey and Maryland refused to issue a marriage license to Violet Hilton, one of the Siamese twins, so that she may wed Maurice Lambert, widower and orchestra leader of the Westerners. Mr. Violet and Maurice are shown in an affectionate pose as the other twin, Daisy, looks on. Daisy is engaged to marry an English prizefighter. Violet plans court action to get her marriage license, shown on Page 3. (Picture from International News Photograph Service.)

RIGGED BODY BREXIT REBOLT OF BECK FOUND WORRIES PARIS

Munich, July 6.—The body of Fritz Beck, head of Germany's foreign academic bureau who was executed in the Nazi suppression of rebels Saturday, was found in a forest near Alarich.

It was reported to have been battered almost beyond recognition, and it bore the marks of six bullets.

It was ascertained that Beck had been abducted by three men in an automobile. For a time his fate was uncertain, but definite information he had been killed was received Wednesday when the academy announced.

"Director Beck has met with a terrible accident."

In the Britisher Forest Country two bodies, each five by nine feet, remain unidentifiable the graves of men shot as traitors. The bodies are hoisted over, Cemetery officials merely shrugged their shoulders when asked whether more Nazi bodies are slain.

Reid Will Take Brownlee Post Bomb Is Found at Vienna School

Edmonton, Alta., July 6 (INR)—Reid, who took the morning post in the Cabinet of Premier John E. Brownlee, will assume the office of Premier of Alberta next week.

It was announced today, Reid succeeds Brownlee, who yesterday tendered his resignation to Lieutenant-Governor W. L. Walsh as a result of charges brought against him by the University of Vienna.

Vienna, July 6 (US)—A member of the Austrian newspaper was shot and severely wounded tonight at Donauwirth, allegedly by a Nazi, indicating possible further trouble between the Austrian and German governments.

At the same time, an unexploded bomb was found placed in the University of Vienna.

LAST KILLER OF 'MIKE' DIES

Ostling, N. Y., July 6.—The Bronx murder syndicate had a full today for the death of "Duke" Joseph Murphy, 27, walked calmly to the Sing Sing death house last night, looking on serenely, with mild curiosity as he was strapped into the electric chair at 10:03 p. m. (Eastern standard time) He was pronounced dead three minutes later.

Murphy's three accomplices, Frank Panque, Anthony Marino and Daniel Kreibitz, were executed June 2. Two more were granted Murphy to permit mental examinations, but he was adjudged sane.

The four men finally accomplished the insurance murder of Malloy with gas after the appeal of the wheels of an automobile and fainted food mixed with nine.

Appeals to High Court in Conviction of Mate's Slaying

By Universal Service. Albany, July 6.—Although Mrs. Anna Antonia, now in the death house at Sing Sing, was denied a new trial, it became virtually certain today that her execution would be delayed until late in the fall.

After County Judge Gallup had refused to grant the young mother a new trial, her attorney, Daniel H. Prior, filed notice with the Court of Appeals that he would carry the fight to the state's highest tribunal.

In view of the appeal to the high court, Governor Lehman is expected to issue another reprieve, delaying the execution until after the Court of Appeals hands down its decision, probably late in October.

It also is expected the governor will reprieve Vincent Santa and Barbara, convicted with Mrs. Antonia for the murder of her husband, until the high court decides on the woman's appeal.

Mrs. Antonia already has been saved twice from the electric chair by Governor Lehman because of a confession by Santa, absolving Mrs. Antonia from connection with the murder. The second reprieve will expire next Thursday night.

"I'm All Alone"

"I'm All Alone" was the tune to dance of stage star, Sophie Tucker, in England, after her divorced husband, Abraham Laskerman, had been dropped from Southampton on the liner Manhattan. Laskerman had come from the United States only two days ago to discuss with Sophie a plan for employing $500 of London's jobs. (Picture from International News Photograph Service.)

attack upon you or upon state property.

Howard Sperry, 38, a striking longshoreman, and George Concourakis, about 45, identified as a member of the Cooks and Waiter Union here, and reported to be connected with the International Labor Defense League, died from bullet wounds.

Mrs. Josephine Puritas was struck in the head by a bullet while riding through the strike zone in a street car. A number of other non-strikers were among the injured.

Acting Governor Merriam's formal orders calling out the state troops came while the rioting was at its height and the casualty toll steadily mounting before withering volleys of police gas.

OBSERVERS MENACED
Thousands of curious spectators were impeded by bullets and gas.
Street cars making a loop at the ferry building rumbled for a time through clouds of add fumes.

The most savage battle of the day was fought around the I. L. A. headquarters. It was in this fight that the two men were killed and most of the injuries were suffered.

With police firing pistols, shotguns, tear and mace gas, the pickets replied with cobbles as they retreated. A gutter flowed with the blood of wounded strikers.
Bullets thudded into the walls of hotels and industrial buildings and whined through several street cars.

The movement of the troops to replace the 700 policemen who engaged the battle for "law and order" yesterday, marks the first time National Guardsmen have been called to duty in San Francisco since the earthquake-fire disaster in 1906.

In addition to the guardsmen already on duty, another 300 troops were notified to hold themselves in readiness for mobilization.

Threats of a general strike of some 25,000 union workers at Portland were made after increased tension there caused police to report to gas and gunfire in breaking up a strike demonstration against railway truck car movements at piers.

WON'T "TURN BACK"
In speaking of the San Francisco situation, Acting Governor Merriam said at Sacramento that the strike had gone beyond the bounds of a legitimate dispute and that:

"There will be no turning back from the position I have taken in this matter."

the officer and four men in an automobile, when Morita interrupted a burglary in a Brooklyn

CALL GOING DRUG ADDICT

In the use a false and exalted opinion.

According to the record on the man who was arrested Hitler rose a day in Germany, Goring was committed to the insane asylum at Langenhofen, on September 1, 1920, with an instruction notation:
"Halt! Moral! Addition."

WIFE EPILEPTIC
The record carries the information that Goring's wife, Mrs. Maria Goring, formerly the Baroness Puck of an aristocratic Swedish family, was an epileptic.

Soon after Goring was committed to the hospital, the son, Thomas Kautau Goring, was removed from the Goring home on the grounds that the environment was detrimental to his health.

Thus far in his career as Adolf Hitler's strongman, Goring has acquired many titles, including those of Premier of Prussia, Minister of Aviation, Director-General of State Theaters and Opera, General of Infantry in the Reichswehr, Chief of the Prussian Secret Service and Minister of Forests.

WONT BE SCARED
In the event that the aristocratic Von Papen resigns, Goring is in a spot to become Vice Chancellor, but this possibility is remote in much as Von Papen has the backing of the iron marshal Von Hindenburg, the one man in Germany whom Hitler has been unable to ridicule down.

Strange as it may seem, Adolf Hitler's strongman, Goring, who draws blood for Hitler, is described as a dictator who attempts as much as he can, to resemble a Roman procurator.

Instead of a chair he is declared to use a red plush throne. At his level, a cup of lemon juice. When the Reichstag was burning in March, 1933, a picture of Goring was painted in the foreign press, depicting him as a man who was drained after the Roman fashion and sitting back and forth in front of a window, from which he was watching the flames.

ACCUSED OF TREASON
At the time Goring was accused in an anonymous pamphlet of having set the fire in a moment when his supply of morphine was not ready.

For Goring, according to the disparaging apologetic that he became addicted to morphine during the war when he was second in command to Baron Manfred von Richthofen, head of the famed Flying Circus, Goring is entitled with bringing down 22 Allied Jappanes.

Melon Peel Turns Trick Where Fires Failed

WIDOW FACES NEW GRILL

Lawrence, July 6.—Police were preparing today to exhume the body of Mrs. Maria Kubara, whose first husband and also the body of her second husband, Karl Glibok.

Police said the exhumation of Michael Kubara, the widow's first husband, from the grave where it has lain for 13 years, might throw so a light on the present investigation into the mysterious death of Glibok.

Glibok, a Lowell street grocer, died June 21, supposedly of pro-nemia. Following an examination of his vital organs by Dr. William Rosen, a large quantity of arsenic was found.

WIDOW IS GRILLED
Mrs. Glibok has been questioned by police on several occasions regard to her husband's death, but no tangible information has been secured. Yesterday she spent several hours with authorities at the Lithuanian National Cemetery in Methuen. There she attended to the expensive granite shaft that marked the grave of Kubara.

A conference, scheduled for tomorrow, will be held by Attorney Hugh Clegg, state and local police and the coroner, to discuss the case.
Dr. George Burgess Magrath of Boston and Dr. William Rosen of Lowell were postponed until tomorrow. Dr.
Magrath notified Clegg that he would be unable to attend today on account of other matters.

REARATH OF CALLED
The prosecutor would neither confirm nor deny that he planned to dig Kubara's body from its grave, but from other sources inferred that he was planning to do such a plan is regarded as the only real solution of the mystery.

Officials have let it be understood that the exhumation of the body had died from administration of arsenic, but they have been advised that traces of the deadly poison would remain visible after a lapse of 13 years.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in locating the grave.
Kubara's death, records at the city hall, died October 15, 1920.
At the Board of Health office, it was revealed that burial was three days after death and the updater's records state that Ku-bara was buried the day following his death.

The death certificate gave cancers as the cause of death. The cause of death was as the cause

DARROW BOARD ABOLISHED BY ROOSEVELT

By Universal Service
Washington, July 6.—The tempestuous Darrow recovery review board, after nearly four months of verbal clawing with the NRA fine eagle, has been abolished by President Roosevelt.

The White House made public an executive order signed by the Chief Executive before his departure dissolving the board as of last Sunday.

WORK COMPLETED

The order gave three reasons for dissolution:

Whereas, said board has made three reports to the President in the exercise of its duties and functions and has substantially completed the work for which it was established; and

Whereas the chairman and two members of the board have resigned and any further investigation and reports would not be representative of the board as originally constituted, or serve to effectuate the purpose for which it was established;

Then followed the formal abolishing of the board.

The board originally contained six men, named by the President at the instigation of Senator Nye, (R) of North Dakota, to investigate charges that NRA encouraged monopoly.

J. F. Sinclair, a member, resigned when the first report was issued, charging the report was unfair.

TWO MORE QUIT

W. O. Thompson quit over the second report and Chairman Clarence Darrow resigned after making the third report to President Roosevelt.

The three remaining members planned to resign in response to the President's call, but found themselves inhibited by executive order.

Senator Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, and Darrow kept up a constant attack on each other over the board's reports, which Johnson insisted were unfounded.

Darrow charged the "little fellow" in business was ruled by codes which, he said, fostered monopoly, that codes were written by and for trust administrators, and that some were secretly charged by Johnson.

CARSON BEACH
FENCE BEGIN

Park departments employees today started construction of a wire barrier about Carson beach, South Boston, to protect bathers from debris floating in from a nearby dump. The order for the fence came from Mayor Mansueti.

The barrier will be fashioned like a big fisherman net, and will be used not only on the side of the beach where the refuse appears, but about the mouth of a creek under the dump.

Mayor Mansueti's order came soon after the report of city health officials that there was no health menace at Carson. The health department was low, they found. But because of the wholesome complaints, the mayoral action followed.

Unclad Swimmer
Rescued by Police

Chicopee, July 6.—Leo Lauer, a swimmer, was rescued by police today.

Lauer, a cost company worker, unclad, swam in the Chicopee river for a half hour before being rescued by police.

The crowd threw ropes and other objects to the man before calling the police to rescue him. He faced a drunkenness charge in court today.

Arm Salute
in Neutral

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAEK
We have just figured out an arm salute that is positively safe. Wave your finger three times around your head and then bite it off.

This salute is for use on your vacation location when you are taking pictures of the Rhine fortifications.

France and Japan are offering loving cups to the school teacher who takes the best snapshot of his secret ambuscades.

On your tour over these take along a replica of Joseph's coat of many colors. Then you will be a member of the brown, black, green and purple shirts.

The color of your pants seems to make no difference in the new brand of old world politics. That's where they shoot you.

PROBE MOVE BY F. W. STAFF AWAITED

With one committee member today reported "out" on the Veterans of Foreign Wars being investigating charges of brutality and laxity in veterans' hospitals in the state, it remained for members to await installation of new officers tomorrow.

Francis X. Goff, of Dorchester, new Massachusetts departmental commander and his staff, will be installed at the Boston hotel. It is believed that a definite policy will be formulated at that time. Resignation of Past National Commander Eugene C. Gurney, of Brockton as a member of the hospital probe committee was reported last night as the committee met at the State House. Gurney refused to confirm the report, and the committee had "nothing to say."

GAMBLING RING CASE AIRED

Arrested as the alleged leader of a huge gambling combine, Morris Davis, 34, of Sumner, a veteran Brooklyn, faced arraignment in municipal court today on charges of registering bets and setting up and promoting a lottery.

Davis was taken into custody on Brighton street after a raid in a Brook Bay hotel. He is alleged to have left the hotel just before police raiders descended and arrested him. He is charged with having received $5000 in bets on horse races.

How dead we are, when we are dead. Calvin Coolidge was on his way to the White House on July Fourth, and on his Fourth, Roy Scott gathered at his grave on a hillside to the cemetery at Plymouth. They placed a wreath on the grave, and Major Lee, United States army chief in Vermont, also brought a wreath, as representative of President Roosevelt, to the grave and taken away again.

Except for the Roy Scotts and a few others, nobody knew anything about it. The rest of the world was setting off fireworks, pinwheels, Roman candles, skyrocket and bombs.

We are very dead; in America, especially, we are very dead indeed, a short time after we go. But what wonder? Money comes with a small grave on a hillside. Dinah Muloch-Craig put it very nicely in verse:

"Two hands upon the breast, and labor's done.
Two pale feet crossed in rest, and race is won."
If it is not won, at least it is ended, and worry ends with it.

You read that in the federal prison at Atlanta, Mr. Al Capone and other convicts were entertained this Fourth of July by a "two-hour boxing show." The prizefighters had all come, but they were exclusively cigarette smokers. They were not allowed to smoke.

That done, convicts of all kinds watching criminals in the prize ring assaulting each other, applauding the hardest nature generations. It represents the effort of a highly organized, civilized government to reform criminals.

2 SHOT DOWN IN DUTCH RIOTS

By Associated Press
Amsterdam, Holland, July 6.—City authorities ordered today that "no quarter" be given in a two-day riot between Dutch and German demonstrators. Two demonstrators have been killed and a score injured.

Protesting against a daily riot, rioters barricaded themselves in streets and related police charges. The fighting ended today only to begin with renewed vigor. The work lasted hours, and shops centering the attack on a big pawnshop. Furniture was smashed. Virtually every window in the adjacent district has been smashed. Lights in the streets were cut off last night and a bridge was burned.

GULF'S ANSWER TO THIS QUESTION: "WHICH GASOLINE IS BEST?"

Is any one gasoline consistently better than others—or are all gasolines alike? In answer, Gulf tested 33 gasolines on well-known hills. Read the results, then decide for yourself this question—"Which gasoline is best?"

"All gasolines are alike," some people say. But the fact is—there's a big difference! Gulf has proved it.

Proved it in a long series of "power tests" on famous hills.

Yes, on 15 tough, mountain grades from Massachusetts to Georgia, tests were made of various gasolines—33 gasolines in all—including the well-known brands sold in each test area.

Each gasoline was tested to see which could pull a car and heavy load farthest up hill in "high" before the motor stalled.

Now Gulf presents the results of these tests. The plain results in black and white—certified by a Notary Public. Look at the chart below—then decide for yourself which gasoline will coax the most power from your motor.

"X" MARKS THE SPOT—where one gasoline gave up the fight in the Palmdale test. Eight gasolines tried it. And Gulf beat them all!

The NEW GULF wins more power tests than 32 other gasolines combined!

HOW 33 GASOLINES RANKED (IN ALL TESTS TO DATE)

TEST	WINNER	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	20	21	22	23	24	25	26	27	28	29	30	31	32	33
1	GULF	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	20	21	22	23	24	25	26	27	28	29	30	31	32	33

Each of the competing gasolines is denoted by a letter—A to Z. Note that in all these tests Gulf never ranked lower than 7th place. Other high ranking gasolines dropped sometimes as low as 7th place.

PEAKING 'NEW DEALERS' ROIL PARTY CHIEFS

By KENNETH CLARK

Washington, July 6 (U.S.)—New men tripping over the country during speaking speeches on "the most important life" are causing a political tempest today in inner Democratic circles.

If prominent party advisers have any way, President Roosevelt, as he is to return, will put a stop to the extra-governmental activities of the so-called "heavy hitters."

The chief executive will be told by advisers and experienced advisers by the brain trusters that to become the administration's "chief" is in the forthcoming election.

On the other side, it is contended the brain trusters, in exposing "radical" programs, are a definitely useful purpose. They help to lead liberals and progressives in the Rooseveltian camp. They offer the promise of a "radical" course.

To curb their activities, this school asserts, might alienate large numbers of voters who look to the administration to make over the social and economic order.

JOHNSON PLANS TRIP

General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA chief, is the man the party leaders would most like to muzzle. In fact, they would like to see him retire, but that appears out of the question at this time. Johnson has no intention of quitting. He is starting out next week on a nationwide speaking tour. His trip is said to be an NRA "baiting" campaign.

If party strategists could prevail, Brain Trustee Rexford Guy Tugwell would be kept at his desk in Washington.

Helen Hayes Flays Drive on Movies

Syracuse, N. Y., July 6—Helen Hayes, stage and screen actress, voiced vigorous opposition here to censorship of motion pictures. She charged that the drive against the Legion of Decency is endangering the livelihood of thousands.

What Our Readers Say

Following is a letter to the Boston Evening American from Daniel J. Lynn of Newton, Boston lawyer, commenting on an editorial published in this newspaper on June 22, in commendation of abandonment of the usual grade marks and report cards in Newton schools:

"This letter is prompted by the leading editorial in your paper which deals with the new system of marking in the Newton schools. I have children in those schools, and am naturally interested in all matters which concern their education. They are 10 years of age and younger. I sent them to the public schools because I believe in public schools. I realized when I sent them there that they could not get individual instruction, but might be educated as members of relatively large classes, that division into classes might depend upon the progress they made as compared with their school-mates' progress, and that such progress would have to be measured somehow.

"Your editorial commends an alleged system of marking, to be used in the Newton schools. What has been done this year in the Newton schools, might, I think, be better described as an abandonment of system in marking. Two brief letters have given to most parents the only information they have received concerning their children's progress or lack of progress.

"The form of these letters was suggested to the teachers by mimeographed sample letters which were sent to all Newton teachers. It may be observed in passing that there is real danger under such a procedure that these 'personal letters' would prove in actual use to be rigid and stereotyped. Passing that consideration, all we humans use words differently, and so understand them differently. Rather than use such an unstable measure of progress, therefore, it seems to me that it would be preferable to use a single measure which has a clear meaning to parents, teachers and pupils (such as monthly or quarterly percentages, numerical marks or letters) so that those at home may know from time to time how their children are progressing. This need of a common denominator for measuring children's progress seems to be especially clear as to public schools, where the instruction given are of necessity larger, and progress as rapidly as the average, and no blame is to be attached to them for this; but naturally so, and need only a request at home to spur them on to better efforts. Keeping the home informed regarding their children's progress seems to be a very important matter.

"I have no right to speak for the teachers; but merely as an afterthought, I ask you to give a moment's thought to how difficult their task would become were this lack of system to get into operation over a period of years."

Chicago Symphony Concert Is Air Feature This Evening
By N. F. T.
French flavor, heightened by romantic musical emphasis, is the Chicago Symphony program plan when that Mid-Western group goes coast-to-coasting by radio this evening (WBZ) between 10:30 and 11 o'clock. The program, which is a selection to be featured, with outstanding works of the Parisian romanticist, Hector Berlioz, to follow during the half hour scheduled.

Numerous broadcasts are being made by the above organization lately and across the border to border network facilities. Lovers of classic compositions treated in the semi-symphonic manner, have responded readily and in great numbers to this effort. This additional demand for Chicago Symphony broadcasts has led the director, Dr. Eric De LaMotte, to make a special matinee "concert" of the best known Franz Liszt selections and occupying the 4:30 to 5 o'clock 20 minutes.

Drunk Increase Blamed to Youths
According to a report made by Probation Officer Joseph J. O'Brien in Quincy district court, "youthful inability to drink intelligently" was responsible for 197 drunkenness arrests in eastern Norfolk County since January 1, as against 709 similar arrests for the corresponding period last year, O'Brien said. "A great number of the violators were youngsters and were arrested for their first violation of the law."

Just Too Busy for Love

The Durbold twins (Fanchon and Virginia) are lovely and clever enough to have been in the Follies and to have danced with the symphony orchestra at Boston at Symphony Hall. Yet they are the only two of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Durbold's 13 children who have not been married—or even engaged. They are too busy dancing to pay any attention to the boys, they said as they left yesterday for New York. Hollywood is their next stop. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

This Is Life

by ROBERT E. ROGERS

It was Henry Adams, I believe, who, in his search for a formula of history, decided that the year 1900 marked a new era in civilization. That date marked, he thought, the end of the era which began around 1800, the era of a mechanical concept of nature, the era of steam and electricity and their applications. With 1900 began an age of sciences, an age that seemed to contradict all that man had known about power as summed up in the first and second laws of thermodynamics.

What had happened? The Curies had discovered radium, that strange, dangerous element that seemed capable of flaring power indefinitely without loss. It seemed like a new "quintessence," as Aristotle had imagined his magic element of nature, and discovery of its secret promised unmeasured results for the future. The alchemist's dream came true.

Henry Adams was so far right that the developments in natural philosophy during the past generation have carried the human intellect places it never dreamed of. The mathematics of physical chemistry are no longer uncomprehensible to the average man who could understand Newton's mechanics without much difficulty. And the practical applications of radium, particularly in medicine, open vistas beyond our power to imagine.

All this we remember as the news comes to us of the death of Mme. Curie, who nearly 20 years ago had red blood corpuscles finally destroyed by the deadly emanations that have killed so many devoted research workers and physicians who have offered their lives that mankind might know what radium is and benefit from its proper use.

It is an accident of history that Mme. Curie who has been remembered, together with her brilliant husband, she had to go on alone when, nearly thirty years ago, he was killed in an accident. He was run down by a vehicle in the streets. One of those senseless, stupid accidents that furnish arguments to those who doubt the existence of a directing intelligence in a world where the most useful and fruitful minds can be snuffed out as casually as the motion picture and the criminal's life. Hereafter, after sharing in the first award to her husband and a male collaborator, and now, she is generally acclaimed as the same which will be remembered in the history of this deadly but beneficent element.

It would seem that we are only at the beginning of the knowledge of what radium can do to destroy life and promote health. We are only at the beginning of our knowledge of how to protect against it and control it for our own good. Meanwhile, there are many side-issues in the study. For instance, the determination of the age at which the uranium mineral pitchblende was deposited, and the fact that the earth is enabled to figure out to estimate the age of the earth at figures far higher than any "thermo" guessed. Radium tells us that the earth is not two billions of years old, a figure the highest importance in the study of evolution, for time is of primary importance. Evolution is time to evolve!

There was one sociological effect of the fact that Mme. Curie was bracketed with her husband as co-discoverer of radium, which interests me particularly. It is not too much to say that it has been the door of pure science to women. It has put on popular opinion of the limitations of men was enormous. It dealt a decisive and final stroke to the old theory that women were inferior in the arts and literature, science, and the like.

Women had made their painful and difficult way through the sciences and law, and now, in the sciences and in the high schools and in women's colleges, but there was no woman's name to go to in pure science. It doesn't matter whether Mme. Curie was really a pioneer or not, but matters is that she was the first woman whose world recognized as a great pure scientist. Henceforth the way was made easier for girls who were resolved to break down the barriers of popular skepticism and work in the sciences. A lengthening shadow of her influence upon the young women may perhaps be of even more value than her influence on the science of the open field of work.

The mathematics of physical chemistry are no longer uncomprehensible to the average man who could understand Newton's mechanics without much difficulty. And the practical applications of radium, particularly in medicine, open vistas beyond our power to imagine.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, July 6.—Thoughts while strolling. Hats are getting bigger than the Merry Widow hats. But there are no Grace La Rue's wearing them. Lowest form of curiosity: Waiting to see who is carried out in a ambulance. Seldom seen in a chauffeur-driven car any more. Janet Gaynor and Irene Hayes bear a resemblance. What's become of Fay Marne? Russell Maclure, who is now doing the Roky things at Music Hall. The only thing Mexican I care about is chili.

Don Herold suggests those drawings he makes. Guy Kibbe is the movie's perfect Rabbit. Are there any other female carnal trusts save Fay Kings? Nobody can zoom along the streets like Edwin Balmer. Or look so starchy-eyed as Diana Wynward. They call a new Broadway drink "the walking pass-out."

Johnny Hogan Cincinnati's hotel Brummel, now running an Inn off Times Square. Anita Loos and John Emerson seem to have deserted the town completely. Earl Carroll has never walked past his famous theater since it went into other hands. Max Steur suggests E. Phillips Oppenheim.

One of my favorite people—Elsie Robinson. That song writer's barber shop near 48th street that Irving Berlin visits daily for a hair brush. And where Major Rowles goes for his daily laugh and Rung Lardner poked up yests from the great American Comedy. What a howling comedy it has become!

Anna Storer Richardson, who wrote one of the season's successful comedies, was the only woman reporter at the Madison Square garden the summer night Stanford White was pistolled. She had gone there for The World to interview Maude Fulton, who was making her debut dancing with William Rock. While she sat in the dressing room the shot was fired and, rushing out, she saw enough to write a masterful graphic description of the wild-eyed killer being led away.

Going through my guest book recently I noticed Wilson Mather had once written: "Small-booked for the 100th time." I never knew exactly the implication until recently. "Small-booked" is a police station term for those who sign the blotters for a petty misdemeanor.

Below Mather's name is a broader and better gift of humor, a Mickey Neelan caper. It is a circle of pen dots with this explanation: A flea nursing his young.

As I recall Norman and Mather dropped in at the Ritz together one long after-midnight. Anytime they turned to footpads and Mather attacked the generalities with the story of a long ago attack that resulted in the twisted leg he carried to his grave. He had been wassailing at Jack's and was wandering across 23d street when ambushed. What was he doing there but you with a flashlight?

"The Metropolitan Life Tower I think," he replied. The old beggar "plant" racket was really worked on a fabulous strip of Madison avenue this morning. A steady rain in incredible rages shifted out a side street to inundate rages shifted out. At the proper moment he fell upon a discarded crumpled mess and wailed it ravenously with eyes rolling. Of course, the mess had been placed there by a confederate. But the fellow was powdered with much the old painted lot of bread in the gutter when which the beggar used to pounce as their prey. In mendacious circles, such a beggar is known as a "dixie" and is the most common expression for one of Arthur Somers Roche's crack in the years years ago.

Floyd Gibbons, lustiest of the world wanderers, seems to have taken root at last in New York. Not only has his permanent address been the Metropolitan for six years, but he has maintained the same apartment in a Lexington avenue hotel the entire time. Of course, during the period he has visited Europe, the Orient and every part of the United States but that to him is just common.

My wife, throwing open the door to my door, I saw a visitor, explained. "This is the first of the ink smudges." That's the kidding fellow getting rid of the ink on his job.

New England went military today with 125 young men starting a month's tour of duty at Camp Military Training Camps established at four army posts. By train, auto and over the road, groups of four out every 15 minutes of 12 were scheduled to report at Fort Devens, Fort Dix, Fort Monmouth, Fort Belvoir, Fort McKinley in Maine, 200. Owing to governmental economy the numbers in training are less than those in other posts.

With drawings mounting, the candid cameraman went to Carson Beach for a few "don'ts." Miss Helen Mabel, South Boston, should not be eating while bathing. And you shouldn't play with pets in the water.

EDWARD G. ROBINSON IN 'JAIL BREAKER' -- NEW PICTURES SCORE ON TWO SCREENS

Columbia to Produce Burnett Story With Dillinger Angle; Sea Role for Paul Muni

By JERRY HOFFMAN
(Punching for Louella O. Parsons)

Los Angeles, July 6.—Edward G. Robinson cannot help a sentimental feeling for W. R. Burnett, who wrote "Little Caesar," undoubtedly his most popular screen character. To his fans Eddie will always be "Little Caesar." He is to have another W. R. Burnett character in a home studio, the Warner, Eddie, who is in the picture, will star in "Jail Breaker," which is currently running in a national magazine.

Paul Muni, who is in the picture, will star in "Jail Breaker," which is currently running in a national magazine.

The voice of Robert Montgomery came over the telephone today. "Please," he said earnestly, "believe that I made when you first in a picture when Betty and I are happy and do take it seriously. Why rumor—rumors are so anxious to separate us, we don't know. I'm sitting one of the Hollywood trade papers for publishing one of the first importers from the first Zerkoff picture, to be signed by William Ashurst. The screen glorification of his late brother, the late Zerkoff, who is producing for Universal.

LOVE CAPTIVE

Wallace Tale War Epic on Orpheum Screen

Packs Lots of Thrills

By HARRIS MORGAN
Not exactly epic, two pictures labeled "Kiss and Make Up" and "The Return of the Terror" prove satisfying enough at the Paramount and the Fenway Theaters, and it is about the latter, thrilling in spots, carefully-directed and well-cast, that a reviewer would feel more inclined to talk in praise.

The "Return of the Terror" is a movie made from an Edgar Wallace story. It is completely unbelievable, but contains a twist in that it makes slight pretense toward being anything but what it is. That is, there is no feeling about its madman after the first good sequence which shows a highly normal courtroom episode.

A doctor named R. D. R. is being tried for poisoning fatally a few of his aged patients, John Halliday, that fine actor, is the doctor. Advised by his lawyer and his friend to stand insanity in the face of damning evidence, R. D. R. complies and is committed to an insane asylum. He escapes, and the picture from that juncture to its neatly-worked out finish is too daffy for words and almost to seem and mysterious for even the jargon.

Mary Astor, Louis Talbot and Frank McHugh are good, and the picture is interesting.

"Kiss and Make Up" is a fitting complement to the other picture. It is farce at its broadest, but not good farce. Where "Return of the Terror" is too wholesome, it is evidence and madness to be believable, "Kiss and Make Up" is evidence and madness to be believable.

Albert Rogell to Direct Cromwell

Albert Rogell, who recently completed "The Hell Cat" featuring Ann Rutherford and Robert Armstrong, has been assigned by Columbia to direct "The Criminal Within," in which Richard Dix and William Hopper are the principals. This unusual and dramatic picture is being produced by Herbert Ashurst and Fred Astor.

Blonde's Note Shatters Max's Romance

Dorothy Discovers Letters, Heads for Divorce

By MAX BAER
(CHAPTER 16)
If my wooing of Dorothy Dunbar, my marriage to her frequent separations and finally her divorcing of me, hadn't been splashed in newspaper ink from coast to coast, I wouldn't have elaborated upon so much in these articles. But it has become common knowledge, like a La Verne fight, a World Ser. ball game, or just pass out some details that I correct some misstatements in a letter to Dorothy.

Dorothy and I had quite a few arguments before we were married because I was jealous of her. When we ended up we because she was jealous of me. So we took turns "winning."

I could help it if some girls were writing me the "come-hither" letters. Dorothy thought I couldn't. I was old enough, but under a strong enough to resist them. I think that a husband can get into a pocket of a girl's life. Dorothy found it—and that the parade to the divorce.

She thought it was okay for me to go out with other men while courting her, and I guess it couldn't see it that Dorothy was independent, and that would be on argument number 57. I loaded a lot of the pretty girls in an effort to get Dorothy's attention.

TAP'S TIPS
I DON'T SEE WHY I LAST I TOOK OFF TWO OF MY SHOES TO CARRY MY GOOD LUCK.

LEADED FOR DIVORCE
I got one note too many; that was a blonde lady of the fashions. I was a red-hot magazine editor, under—but it wasn't the "Dear Max" kind either. I became interested—when I find the workaholic a husband can get into a pocket of a girl's life. Dorothy found it—and that the parade to the divorce.

Munger, Borsodi Expected to Dethrone Coolidge and Monahan

By Bill Grimes

Youngsters were expected to dominate the first round of the seventh annual Winchester Country Club four-ball invitation, in progress today, and in all probability continue to feature through the four rounds of match play.

Jack Borsodi, Austin, Tex., and Fred Borsodi, Houston, Tex., a couple of lads from Hill school, were the medalists with a pair round of 67, five strokes under perfect figures.

Munger, who lost his chance to meet George Dunlop in the finals of the national amateur championship last year at Cincinnati when he was beaten by Max Marsten, after the now famous near incident at the 7th hole, was 72 on his own ball, and his partner carried a 73.

TO PLAY IN AMATEUR
Munger and Borsodi are here to familiarize themselves with the Country Club course, for the nations, and decided to get some competition by playing the Winchester invitation. They recently played in the Eastern Intercollegiate championship at Greenwich, during which Munger, Bobby Knowles, the Eastern Intercollegiate titleholder, and Harry P. Hood, Jr., Tedesco, drew Munger and Borsodi for their first round opponents, and this match promises to be a battle from start to finish.

After that snappy par breaking 67, Munger and Borsodi are strongly favored to walk right through to the title, which Judge Joseph W. Monahan and Wallace H. Coolidge are defending. Another match which will be a thriller is that in which Fred J. Wright, Jr., six-time winner of the state amateur title, and W. P. McPhail are playing the Martin twins, Leo and Edward. Wright and McPhail put together a better ball of 70 yesterday, two under par, but so did the Martins, who started 4-6-5 and they played the remaining 15 holes in five under even 45.

SOUTH SHORE MATCH
Judge Monahan and Wally Coolidge are playing F. O. Adams and P. H. Gerry, the only all-Winchester team to make the championship division grade. There was an all-South Shore match in progress this morning, in which Bud and Evan Galvin, Haverhill, were playing Dick Hartigan, Elm of Haverhill, and Dan Shea of the South Shore C. C. Jimmy Fisher and Eddie Gavigue, Bear Hill, are the dark horse duo. They were 73 for the qualifications, with Fisher, who is the Bear Hill champion, 74 on his own ball.

Baseball Tips, No. 25

THE BUNT
There are three kinds of bunts: (1) To catch the infield by surprise and let the batter reach first base; (2) The drag bunt, which pushes the ball past the pitcher when he is off balance and the infield is playing deep; (3) The sacrifice bunt, whose sole object is to advance the runner.

THE DRUG BUNT
In bunting the ball, keep your head low, i. e., parallel with the ground, to give more bunting surface. Clearly, if you held your bat at an angle, there is only one spot that will meet the ball squarely, i. e., the hitting edge of the bat.

THE SACRIFICE BUNT
In bunting the ball, keep your head low, i. e., parallel with the ground, to give more bunting surface. Clearly, if you held your bat at an angle, there is only one spot that will meet the ball squarely, i. e., the hitting edge of the bat.

THE BUNT
There are three kinds of bunts: (1) To catch the infield by surprise and let the batter reach first base; (2) The drag bunt, which pushes the ball past the pitcher when he is off balance and the infield is playing deep; (3) The sacrifice bunt, whose sole object is to advance the runner.

THE DRUG BUNT
In bunting the ball, keep your head low, i. e., parallel with the ground, to give more bunting surface. Clearly, if you held your bat at an angle, there is only one spot that will meet the ball squarely, i. e., the hitting edge of the bat.

THE SACRIFICE BUNT
In bunting the ball, keep your head low, i. e., parallel with the ground, to give more bunting surface. Clearly, if you held your bat at an angle, there is only one spot that will meet the ball squarely, i. e., the hitting edge of the bat.

Boxing Results

Chicago—Jackie Hayes, White Sox second baseman, will be on the shelf for a month with a fractured thumb.
